Contractual terms

Registration and admission

After receipt of the completed written application, you will receive a confirmation that your application has been received. After the registration deadline, a decision will be made based on the number of participants as to whether or not the International Week can take place. If the number of applications is too low, the heads of the program can postpone or, if necessary, cancel the program. The applicants will be informed of this decision shortly after the application deadline. In case of a postponement or cancellation, candidates will be offered a place for the next program start. If the required number of participants is reached before the registration deadline, the International Week can be confirmed at an earlier date.

Terms of payment and services

The tuition fee (if applicable; see above) is payable before the start of the program. The program costs include the instruction of the course, the correction of assignments, certificates of achievement as well as the teaching materials (excl. textbooks and further specialist literature). Costs pertaining to accommodation, travel and food are the responsibility of the participant and are not included in the tuition fee. Corporate rates for hotels or hotel recommendations will be provided if available. Please note that for International Week Bangkok, the hotel is predetermined and must be booked using the booking link provided by the partner university.

Cancellations and alternative modes of teaching

Cancellations received prior to the confirmation that the International Week will be held must be submitted in writing and will result in an administrative fee of CHF 350. In the case of cancellations received after the confirmation that the International Week will be held, the entire course fee is due. Further, any pre-paid travel and accommodation costs incurred will not be reimbursed. Participants are responsible for ensuring that they have adequate insurance coverage. To ensure the security of staff and students, the program will be canceled or taught online if the Swiss Federal Department of Foreign Affairs, the Swiss Federal Office of Public Health, the respective government agencies of the destination country or the higher education institution(s) running a respective program or program component issue exceptional and specific travel warnings for the respective destination abroad for the duration of the program abroad. If the program needs to be canceled as a result of such travel warnings, students can re-apply to the program without additional fees, but need to cover the cancellation fees for their travel and accommodation. If the program needs to be taught online as a result of such travel warnings, this application and its contractual terms remain valid; students need to cover the cancellation fees for their travel and accommodation. Without exceptional and specific travel warnings for the respective destination abroad as specified above, the program will proceed as planned.

Completion requirements

A prerequisite for the successful completion of the assignments and grading is regular attendance (fewer than 20 % absences).
