

Lucerne University of Applied Sciences and Arts

HOCHSCHULE LUZERN

Business

International Week – Vancouver

University of the Fraser Valley

www.hslu.ch/iw-vancouver

Partner University

The University of the Fraser Valley School of Business

Focus

The University of the Fraser Valley School of Business offers an exciting program on leadership in the context of globalization. The focus areas of the program include negotiating across cultures, leadership strategies for a global manager, Vancouver as the Asian-Pacific Gateway, and Canada's First Nations' business traditions and culture. The program features interactive seminars and site visits on cutting-edge leadership and intercultural topics, presented by leading experts, academics, and business executives.

For more information about the specific program, go to www.hslu.ch/iw-vancouver.

Date

September 29, 2019 – October 4, 2019

Climate

The months of September and October have the potential to show visitors great Vancouver weather – mild, sunny and clear. There is actually no bad weather in Vancouver, but you do need appropriate clothing such as sunglasses, a sweater and a raincoat. Humidity is quite low thanks to ocean breezes. Temperatures from the end of September to the beginning of October can vary from highs of 20C during the day to lows of 10C at night.

Travel

Economy return flight from Zurich to Vancouver, BC, Canada approx. CHF 1,300 to CHF 1,400 (varies depending on how early the booking is made, choice of airline, seat selection, luggage etc.)

Accommodation

Approx. CHF 130 to CHF 160 /night + tax with the group booking code at the conference hotel, depending on the type of room, group rate and currency fluctuations. The prices are per hotel room so the room price is halved if you share a room.

Lead

Prof. Jillaine Farrar

Passport/ Visa/Health

Go to www.hslu.ch/iw-vancouver for detailed and up-to-date information.